AFRICAN AMERICAN & AFRICAN STUDIES

Graduates of the Department of African American and African Studies are well prepared for a wide range of careers. Our graduates work in the fields of law, medicine, education, journalism, social work and politics. They are creators of art, theater, and literature.

The analytical and critical thinking skills they gain as liberal arts students, paired with an in-depth understanding of the cultural and historical experiences of African American and African peoples, make our graduates invaluable contributors to business, society, and culture.